Do you have your Passport? No, not that one. The WyomingPBS Passport. Your WyomingPBS Passport lets you watch over 1000 episodes of PBS programs online, with more being added each week. Want to watch the first season of Poldark? Every episode of Downton Abbey? Twenty episodes of Live from Lincoln Center or 26 episodes of American Masters? Just use your Passport. You can even watch hundreds of WyomingPBS productions!

You can use Passport on your smartphone, tablet, PC, or enhanced TV. You can watch through your Roku, Chromecast, Apple TV, or Amazon Fire. All you need is an Internet connection (and your Passport.) I watched the first episode of the second season of Poldark on my iPad sitting in the Denver airport. I used my Roku to watch the “Carol King” episode of American Masters on my living room TV.

WyomingPBS Passport is available to every Member contributing at least $60 a year. If we have your e-mail address on file, you’ve already received an e-mail with instructions on how to activate Passport. If you didn’t get the e-mail or want to sign up, just call the WyomingPBS Foundation at 877-263-0702. For more details on how Passport works, visit wyomingpbs.org/passport.

You’ll often hear me say, “we tell Wyoming’s stories.” In November, we have Main Street Wyoming’s “What’s in a Name”, Farm to Fork’s “Wyoming Apple Project”, and a special live Wyoming Chronicle on Alzheimer’s.

But we’re not the only people telling Wyoming’s stories, and part of our mission is to share the wonderful stories about our state told by others. In “Highpointers,” a producer from Virginia tells the very special story of two high school girls who try to summit Gannett Peak. I didn’t know llamas were used as pack animals in Wyoming!

Later in the month, Geoff O’Gara tells the story of the “Green River Drift.” In January, Mat Hames’s “What Was Ours,” will premiere on PBS as part of the Independent Lens series. And this Summer, producer Virginia Moore shines a spotlight on Meeteetse in “Ferret Town.” Wyoming’s stories, made possible by you, the Members of WyomingPBS.

Thank you for watching and thank you for your support.

USO - For the Troops
Monday, Nov. 7 at 8pm

This film takes viewers inside the work the USO performs, year in and year out, to lift the spirits of American service personnel. This work builds and strengthens the ties that connect them to their families, their homes, and our nation.

Soundbreaking
Monday, Nov. 14 at 9:30pm
Tuesday - Friday, Nov 15-18 at 9pm
Monday - Wednesday, Nov. 21-23 at 9pm

This series looks at the art and evolution of music recording. Featuring more than 150 original interviews with some of the most celebrated recording artists of all time, it charts a century’s worth of innovation and experimentation of brand new sounds.

Highpointers
Tuesday, Nov. 15 at 7pm
Repeats Nov. 19 at 4pm

A family attempting to climb the highest peaks in 50 states meets its match in Wyoming. This warmly-told family film is the first to introduce the little known sport of “highpointing,” a quirky American hobby for nature lovers and climbers. Their quest turns more serious as they learn Wyoming’s Gannett Peak is deep in wilderness territory.
Downton Abbey Season 2 Marathon
Thursday, Nov. 24, 9am - 7pm

The infamous series of love and intrigue at an English country estate, Downton Abbey mobilizes for the trauma of war, in this all-day marathon of Season 2. The perfect counterpoint to Thanksgiving parades and football.

The Last Waltz
Friday, Nov. 25 at 8pm

Watch Bob Dylan, Neil Young, Van Morrison, Joni Mitchell, Ronnie Wood, Neil Diamond, Eric Clapton and more perform with legendary rock group The Band in the 1978 Martin Scorsese film hailed as one of the greatest rock ‘n’ roll films ever made.

The Drift
Tuesday, Nov. 29 at 8:30pm

Every year in the early summer, a group of Wyoming ranchers drive their cattle high into the Rocky Mountains, to the largest unfenced federal grazing area in the United States. The Green River Drift is an old-fashioned horseback cattle drive - in some cases, the livestock travel 100 miles - but the threats it faces are modern: roads, drilling rigs, government-protected grizzly bears and more.

Wyoming’s Community Colleges Help Build a Stronger Workforce

One of the many ways in which Wyoming’s community colleges serve their communities is through a workforce development program. Specific programs vary from college to college, offering courses in areas like leadership and professional development, on-the-job safety, medical specialties, energy/oil and gas, and trade apprenticeships.

The colleges cover different districts throughout Wyoming. Their core locations include:

- Casper College in Casper
- Central Wyoming College in Riverton, Lander, and Jackson
- Eastern Wyoming College in Torrington with an outreach center in Douglas
- Laramie County Community College in Cheyenne and Laramie
- Northern Wyoming Community College District in Sheridan and Gillette, with outreach centers in Buffalo, Kaycee, and Wright
- Northwest College in Powell and Cody
- Western Wyoming College in Rock Springs, Green River, and Rawlins

Each has outreach facilities in other communities throughout their districts as well. Specific locations and contact information can be found online.

If you are looking to build a stronger workforce, develop new skills or refresh current skills, or gain the knowledge that enables you to find an entirely new job, consider contacting the workforce development department at the community college nearest you. The departments as a whole help bring The Nightly Business Report to WyomingPBS viewers, so when you talk with them about how they can help you, let them know you appreciate what they do.

ANNE OF GREEN GABLES
Thursday, November 24 at 7pm

A new adaptation of Lucy Maud Montgomery’s classic novel tells the story of Anne Shirley, a precocious orphan placed in the care of uptight Marilla Cuthbert and her brother Matthew, played by Martin Sheen.
